They increased steam pressure. That seemed to quite it down for a while. We will place another work order with PP.

Thanks,

Jim

Jim,

At this point neither contractor is responsible. The work is guaranteed for 1 year from acceptance then Physical Plant take over the maintenance. If you call the PP service desk they should send someone out to make the repair. What did PP do the last time they came out?

Hi Steve,

The noise is back with a vengeance. It must be outside temperature dependent. Could you see if the contactor who installed it is responsible or is Johnson Controls?

Thanks,
